

IRVING, Texas, Sept. 30, 2020 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- Exela Technologies, Inc. ("Exela") (NASDAQ: XELA) today announced that it was recently named a Major Contender and given a Star Performer designation in Everest Group's PEAK Matrix for Revenue Cycle Management \(RCM\) Operations.¹ According to Everest Group, multiple Exela wins in 2019 accounted for one of the highest client growth shares in the market.

Everest Group's report notes that Exela grew at a rate much higher than the rest of the industry, due to its large market penetration and unique platform solution, PCH Global.

"The complex, niche, and domain-intensive nature of some mid-office RCM processes limits healthcare providers' sourcing options," said Manu Aggarwal, Vice President, Everest Group. "By supplementing its legacy coding, auditing, and consulting capabilities with proprietary automation and analytics solutions, Exela Technologies is well positioned to address this challenge. Additionally, Exela facilitates an optimal claims management and collections process by enabling a connected ecosystem through its PCH Global solution."

"Strengthening our position in the RCM market has been a focus for our team, and we're proud to be recognized by Everest Group for our efforts," said Suresh Yannamani, President, Exela. "The growth shows that our go-to-market strategy in the RCM market, combining our strategic partnerships and unique technology solutions, is showing dividends."

Exela's strategic partnerships in the RCM space, in addition to its burgeoning stable of solutions across the healthcare value chain, places the organization in a prime position to continue its recent success.

¹Everest Group is an industry-leading consulting and research firm focused on strategic IT, business process, and engineering, and its Star Performer designation showcases providers that demonstrated the strongest forward and upward movement on the PEAK Matrix.
